1. Corporate Governance Statement

Corporate governance is the framework within which we manage our business. It provides a structure for decisions to be made in order to direct, oversee and control operations.

2. Introduction: Corporate Governance Framework

This document explains how Johnson Matthey Plc (the “Company” or “company”) is organised to enable the effective discharge of its corporate governance responsibilities, including those set out in the UK Corporate Governance Code.

Johnson Matthey Plc is registered in England and Wales and is listed on the London Stock Exchange.

The principal decision making body is the board. It has responsibility for setting the strategic direction of the Johnson Matthey Plc group (the “group”) and for ensuring that risk is managed effectively. The board is accountable to shareholders for the group’s financial and operational performance. It is supported by three committees: the Nomination Committee, the Audit Committee and the Remuneration Committee and has delegated responsibility for specific matters to the Disclosure Committee and Ethics Panel.

Responsibility for implementing operational decisions and the day to day management of the business is delegated to the Chief Executive who is supported by the Group Management Committee. The Group Management Committee is supported by five sub-committees.

Details of the decisions which can only be taken by the board and the role and duties of the committees are set out in this framework.

3. The Role of our Board and Committees

The board

Our board's role is to provide leadership of the company and direction for management. It is collectively responsible and accountable to our shareholders for the long term sustainable success of the group, for generating value for shareholders, contributing to wider society and for ensuring the group is appropriately managed and operates responsibly, with effective controls, as it pursues its objectives.

The board reviews the performance of management and the operating and financial performance of the group as a whole. In particular, the board is responsible for establishing the company's purpose and values and setting strategy, determining risk appetite, ensuring appropriate risk management and internal controls are in place, ensuring good governance, decision making and promoting the desired culture. The board also ensures that plans are in place for orderly succession for appointments to the board and to senior management, so as to maintain an appropriate balance of skills and experience within the company and on the board.

In order to carry out its work, the board, which usually meets formally seven times a year in person, agrees an annual agenda plan to ensure all necessary matters are covered and to allow sufficient time for debate and challenge. In particular, the board has sought to ensure there is sufficient time to discuss strategy so that the non-executive directors have a good opportunity to challenge and help develop strategy proposals. The board also takes time to review past decisions where necessary.

At board meetings, the board receives and considers papers and presentations from management on relevant topics, including one or more business or strategy presentations from the sector chief executives and senior managers. Effective review and decision making are supported by providing the board with high quality, accurate, clear and timely information including input from experts and independent advisers where necessary. The board seeks to work in the best interest of Johnson Matthey Plc and its stakeholders.

For further details on the principal activities of the board, please refer to the company's Annual Report and Accounts.

Board committees

Our board has three committees: the Audit Committee, the Nomination Committee and the Remuneration Committee to which it delegates certain tasks. Each independent non-executive director is a member of each board committee. No one other than the board committee chairmen and members is entitled to be present at committee meetings. Others may attend, but only by invitation. Executive directors are not members of the board committees. When deciding the chairmanship and membership of board committees, the board takes into account the value of ensuring that committee membership is refreshed and seeks to ensure that undue reliance is not placed on particular individuals.

The board ensures that its committees are provided with sufficient resources to undertake their duties, including access to the services of the Company Secretary as required. Each committee has the authority to seek any information that it requires from any officer or employee of the company or its subsidiaries. Each committee is also authorised by the board to take independent advice (including legal or other professional advice), at the company's expense, as it considers necessary. Each committee may request information from, or commission investigations by, external advisers. The committees formally report to the board on their proceedings after each meeting and generally on all matters and activities for which they are responsible through the committee chairmen and via committee minutes.

Details on the responsibilities of these committees can be found within their terms of reference, which are reviewed periodically and approved by the board.

Executive committees

Responsibility for implementing operational decisions and for the day to day management of the business is delegated by the board to the Chief Executive, who is supported by the Group Management Committee. In turn, the Group Management Committee is supported by five sub-committees.

Group Management Committee: responsible for the executive management of the group's businesses and recommends strategic and operating plans to the board.

Environment, Health and Safety Leadership Committee: responsible for assisting the Company in discharging its EHS responsibilities and in creating a positive EHS culture across the group.

OneJM Policy Committee: responsible for setting a policy framework for the group, oversight and approval of Johnson Matthey group Policies.

Finance and Administration Committee: responsible for approval of certain group finance and corporate restructuring matters.

Legal Risk Committee: reviews contract and litigation risk for the group.

Metal Steering Committee: responsible for managing the risk and mitigating actions in relation to the Company's precious metals.

In addition to the above committees, the board has established the following committees:

Ethics Panel: oversees the concerns raised in relation to the group, including out of Speak Ups and ensures effective review and/or investigation of such concerns. Due to the importance of these matters, this executive committee reports to the board.

Disclosure Committee: identifies and controls inside information and potential inside information, and determines how and when that information should be disclosed to meet legal and regulatory requirements.

Please also refer to Appendix on the board and committee structure.

4. The Role of our Board Members

Chairman

Our Chairman leads the board. He is responsible for ensuring an effective board and effective contributions from individual directors, particularly non-executive directors, based on a culture of mutual respect, openness, debate and constructive challenge. To achieve this, he seeks to facilitate and encourage open communication and constructive working relations between the executive and non-executive directors. He also seeks to ensure that the executive directors are responsive to constructive challenge on their proposals by the non-executive directors. Our Chairman is in frequent contact with our Chief Executive. They meet in person or by telephone at least once a week. Our Chairman also keeps the non-executive directors up to date with significant developments between board meetings.

The Chairman is responsible for setting the board's agenda and ensuring that there is adequate time to discuss all agenda items. In addition, the Chairman monitors, with assistance from the Company Secretary, the information distributed to the board to ensure it is of high quality, accurate, clear and timely.

The Chairman is also responsible for ensuring that Johnson Matthey maintains effective communications with our shareholders and that the views of shareholders are communicated to the board so that all directors develop an understanding of the views of the major investors in the group.

There is a clear division between the Chairman's responsibilities for running the board and the Chief Executive's role for the running of the business. This division of responsibilities is established in a written statement which can be found on page 11.

Chief Executive

Our Chief Executive has day to day management responsibility for running the group's operations, for implementing the group's strategy as approved by the board, for applying group policies and for promoting the company's culture and standards, including those on governance. He has the broad authority from the board to run the company and he is accountable for, and reports to the board on, how it is performing. Our Chief Executive also has a key role in the process for the setting and review of strategy. In addition, he ensures that the executive directors' views on business issues and views from the workforce on relevant issues are shared with the board in a balanced way.

Senior Independent Director

The Senior Independent Director's role is to provide a sounding board for the Chairman, to act, if necessary, as a focal point and intermediary for the other non-executive directors and to ensure that any key issues that are not being addressed by the Chairman or the executive management are taken up. The Senior Independent Director and the Chairman maintain a regular dialogue regarding current issues. The board recognises that, should any significant issues arise which threaten the stability of Johnson Matthey or its board, the Senior Independent Director may be required to work with the Chairman or others or to intervene to resolve them.

The Senior Independent Director is available to shareholders should they have concerns which have not been resolved from contact through the normal channels of the Chairman, Chief Executive or other executive directors or if the normal channels may be inappropriate. He is also available to attend meetings with major shareholders to listen to their views in order to help develop a balanced understanding of their issues and concerns.

The Senior Independent Director is responsible for leading the annual appraisal of the Chairman's performance and plays an important role by ensuring there is an orderly process for succession to the chairmanship of Johnson Matthey.

Non-Executive Directors

The role of our non-executive directors is to scrutinise management's performance in meeting agreed goals and objectives and to monitor how that performance is reported. They must also be satisfied with the integrity of the group's financial information on the effectiveness of financial controls and risk management systems.

As members of the board, the non-executive directors bring independent judgment and a range of experience to the board and therefore have a key role in constructively challenging in all areas. This is vital to the independence and objectivity of the board's deliberations and decision making and is particularly important in helping develop proposals on strategy. The Chief Executive and the other executive directors welcome, and are responsive to, constructive challenge by the non-executive directors on their proposals. The non-executive directors' role is to support the decisions that have been taken and to support the executive team in their delivery. Non-executive directors also play an important part in supporting the Chairman and the executive directors in embracing and representing the company's culture, values and standards within the board and throughout Johnson Matthey.

The non-executive directors are responsible for determining appropriate levels of remuneration for the executive directors and have a prime role in appointing and, where necessary, removing executive directors, and in succession planning.

Executive Directors

Our executive directors have specific responsibilities relating to the group's business. However, as directors, their duties extend beyond their own businesses to include the whole of the group's operations and activities.

Company Secretary

Our Company Secretary is secretary to the board and its committees. He reports to our Chairman on board governance matters and, together with the Chairman, keeps the efficacy of the company's and the board's governance processes under review and recommends improvements where necessary. He is also responsible to the board for compliance with board procedures. He is responsible, through the Chairman, for advising and keeping the board up to date on all legislative, regulatory and governance matters and developments. Under the Chairman's direction, the Company Secretary's responsibilities include ensuring good information flows within the board and its committees and between senior management and non-executive directors. He also facilitates induction and assists with professional development as required. His advice, services and support are available to each director.
