1 Purpose

Johnson Matthey’s (“JM”, “our”, “we”, “us”) Anti-Bribery and Corruption (“ABC”) Policy sets out our zero-tolerance approach to bribery and corruption. This policy should be read in conjunction with JM’s Gifts, Hospitality and Charitable Donations (“GH&C”) Policy.

We, our employees, and the third parties we engage are subject to a number of anti-bribery and corruption (“ABC”) laws in all the countries where we operate globally, including but not limited to, the U.K. Bribery Act of 2010 (“UKBA”) and the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (“FCPA”), both of which can apply to acts committed anywhere in the world. Violations of ABC laws are treated very seriously by enforcement authorities across the world, and may result in severe criminal, civil and regulatory penalties for JM and any involved individuals. Criminal penalties may include significant fines and imprisonment.

JM’s involvement or perceived involvement in bribery or corruption could significantly damage our reputation and harm the trust we have established with our workers, customers and the communities where we work.

The nature of our business operations means we are exposed to bribery and corruption risks that must be mitigated. We have operations throughout the world, including in countries and industries that are high-risk from a bribery and corruption perspective. The exposure is heightened when interacting with Public Officials, which includes when we do business with state-owned entities. In addition, where we engage Third Party Intermediaries (“TPI”) to act on our behalf, their actions or potential misconduct may create liability for us regardless of whether we are aware of such actions or misconduct.

You must comply with this policy, all applicable laws (including local ABC laws) that apply and any additional requirements imposed by your Sector or Group Function. If there is a conflict between the requirements of this policy, your Sector or Group Function’s policy and local laws, you must comply with the most stringent requirement.

When reviewing this policy, you should refer to the Definitions set out in Section 11.

Johnson Matthey Plc’s Board of Directors and its Group Management Committee (“GMC”) are fully committed to this policy and to supporting your compliance with it.

2 Applicability/Scope

What does this policy cover?

This policy sets out the principles and requirements you must follow to avoid engagement in bribery and corruption.

Bribery involves the offering, giving, requesting or receiving of money, anything of value or anything else that may be considered a bribe as an inducement or reward for an improper act or to influence someone in the performance of their role. For purposes of assessing a bribery risk, “an improper act” generally refers to someone performing (or failing to perform) a function or activity in a manner that is illegal, unethical, in bad faith or in breach of a position of trust. Bribes are sometimes called “kickbacks”. “Anything else of value” includes, but is not limited to the following:

- Gifts (including cash equivalents, such as gift cards or vouchers)
- Favourable commercial arrangements (eg, favourable contracts)
- Hospitality, such as meals, hotel stays, tickets or invitations to sporting or cultural events
- Other promotional expenses (such as travel and accommodation expenses)
- Favours that are of value to the recipient (such as offers of employment, work experience or internships for a directly involved party or a relative of a party)
- Free use of company services, facilities or property
- Political contributions
- Charitable Donations

Corruption refers to the misuse of public office or power for private gain, or the misuse of private power in relation to business. Corruption can take many forms, such as fraud, extortion, bribery or facilitation payments.
Facilitation payments, sometimes called “grease payments”, are unofficial payments or gifts made to secure, facilitate or speed up a Public Official’s performance of a non-discretionary government action or process. These government actions or processes include, but are not limited to, issuing licenses or permits, scheduling inspections and loading/unloading cargo.

Who does this policy apply to?

This policy applies to everyone who works for us whether on a permanent or temporary basis, in any of our Group businesses, anywhere in the world, including all employees, contractors and temporary staff (collectively, “Workers”) unless otherwise specified.

All individuals, groups of individuals and entities working on our behalf or providing services to JM will be held to the same ethical standard as our Workers, including but not limited to agents, distributors, resellers, logistics providers and government intermediaries (collectively, "TPIs").

3 The Policy

This policy sets out our zero-tolerance approach to bribery and corruption. You must comply with the rules set out below at all times and in all aspects of your work.

This policy does not provide exhaustive guidance for every possible bribery and corruption risk. It is your responsibility to be alert to bribery and corruption risks, provide information to your line manager about these risks, and seek further guidance from the Legal Team or Group Ethics and Compliance ("GE&C") as necessary.

A. General Prohibition Against Bribery

You must not offer, give, request or accept bribes, whether directly or indirectly (such as bribes made through TPIs), to or from any entity or individual.

B. Prohibition Against Bribing Public Officials

Bribes are strictly prohibited in all circumstances but interactions with Public Officials present a heightened bribery risk. Public Officials include, but are not limited to:

- individuals (whether elected or appointed) who hold positions of any kind in any national, local or municipal government (eg, legislative, administrative or otherwise) or in any regulatory agency, exchange or listing authority;
- individuals who exercise a public function for or on behalf of any branch or public agency of any national, local or municipal government;
- officers, employees or representatives of any State Owned Entity ("SOE");
- officers, employees or representatives of any public international organisation or non-governmental organisation ("NGO");
- individuals acting in any judicial capacity; and
- politicians, political candidates or employees of any political party.

C. Making Facilitation Payments

You must not make Facilitation Payments of any kind, whether directly or indirectly (ie, through another person or company), even if they are customary business practice in a particular country. If a Public Official requests you make a facilitation payment, you must report it in accordance with this policy.

D. Requirement to Comply with Gifts, Hospitality, and Charitable Donations Policy

All Gifts, Hospitality or Charitable Donations that you give or receive must comply with this policy and JM’s GH&C Policy (and any applicable Local Policy Supplement).
E. Prohibition Against Political Contributions

You must not use JM funds for Political Contributions unless specifically authorised in advance and in writing by the GMC. Political Contributions include, but are not limited to, contributions to political candidates, political parties or political party/action committees. If you are unsure if your donation or contribution constitutes a Political Contribution, you must consult the Legal Team or GE&C.

F. Requirements When Engaging and Paying TPIs

You must always assess and address the bribery and corruption risks presented by TPIs engaged to represent or provide services to or on behalf of JM and provide information on these risks to your line manager. If the TPI falls within the scope of JM’s Engaging High-Risk Third Party Intermediaries Procedure (2017) or Third Party Intermediary Risk Review (2014), then the requirements of the applicable procedure must be followed.

G. Requirement to Report Actual or Suspected Violations or Red Flags

i. You must report known or suspected violations of this policy.

If you observe, become aware of or suspect conduct has occurred that violates this policy or otherwise implicates JM in bribery or corruption, you must notify JM immediately through the Legal Team, GE&C or the Speak Up process.

A non-exhaustive list of bribery and corruption red flags is contained in Annex 1.

ii. You must report bribery or corruption red flags involving Third Parties.

You must report to the Legal Team any red flags that arise during the course of a relationship (or prospective relationship) with a Third Party as soon as you become aware of them. If a decision is taken not to work with a Third Party (or continue working with them) due to bribery or corruption concerns, the Legal Team must inform GE&C so the decision can be recorded in the JM Group register/watchlist.

4 Exceptions

Payments In The Face of Imminent Harm

Payments that would otherwise violate this policy may be made on an exceptional basis when you or another Worker faces a threat of imminent harm, such as loss of life, liberty or personal injury if payment is not made. If you are not able to notify the Legal Team or GE&C in advance of taking any action (including making any payments) in accordance with this exception to the policy, you must notify them (together with your line manager) as soon as possible thereafter, document any transactions in accordance with this policy and ensure any relevant payments are accurately recorded in accounts, books and records.

There are no other exceptions to this policy.
