Precious Metals Management (PMM)

Johnson Matthey is a world leader in precious metals with over 200 years of experience. Our global team of experts support you in effectively sourcing and managing Platinum Group Metals (PGMs), enabling their sustainable and circular use.

Selling and buying metal

Whether you're buying metal from us or selling it to us, we'll help you select a metal strategy that's the best fit for your business.

- Spot buy – call or email our trading desk to get instant quotes for immediate delivery and payment.
- Average – reduce risk in a volatile market by pricing metal over a fixed period.
- Forward – lock in metal prices for future delivery and payment.
- Limit order – target orders for when the market trades through a specific price level.

Our standard form of metal is commercial grade, good delivery sponge or powder. Subject to volume and availability, we can quote for form swaps for delivery of ingot in London or Zurich, or provide other metallic forms such as grain or good delivery bars.

We can safely store your metal using our vaulting facilities worldwide. We also offer seamless electronic processing and industry leading handling and logistics expertise, ensuring you can get your PGMs to the desired location as efficiently as possible.

With a fully staffed trading desk in Shanghai and our newest refinery located nearby, we now offer complete metal supply chain solutions within China.

Market intelligence

We provide a unique and informed perspective on key issues in PGMs, giving you a better understanding of today's volatile markets.

We have a team of dedicated market researchers and analysts that make in depth, long term forecasts of supply and demand of PGMs. This information can help you understand how the markets are likely to develop and optimise your business and risk mitigation strategies.

Our PGM Market Report is published every year, reviewing and forecasting demand and supply developments in the PGM markets.

Responsible and sustainable sourcing

We take many factors into consideration when sourcing metal, but most important of all is our responsibility towards the environment and to the communities in which we operate. We adhere to the highest industry standards of responsible sourcing, and often go beyond them to ensure that our metal is sourced ethically throughout the supply chain. We also encourage our suppliers to adopt their own values and we have systems in place to audit the activities of our supply chain partners.

The majority of feedstock for our products is from a geographically diversified range of secondary sources, recycled at our own refineries in the UK, North America, and China. These are strictly and constantly monitored for compliance with demanding environmental standards. We're the largest global secondary refiner of PGMs, but in addition to sourcing PGMs from spent products, we also include metal from primary sources and other reputable and established refineries. That way we can strike the right balance between securing supply of these critical materials and ensuring they can be reused again and again.
